

Dear Sponsor of the Canada Post Indigenous Education Incentive Award,

My name is Sheila Naytowhow and I am a 27 year old nehiyaw iskwew from the Montreal Lake Cree Nation. I am a fourth year Psychology student studying at the University of Saskatchewan. I am also a mother of two, my children are my biggest supporters and motivators and I can't wait to provide and guide them to follow their dreams and goals.

This award makes a huge difference for us as we can continue to prepare for our futures stability and security for time to follow. My goals for my future are to continue my studies and apply to Edwards School of Business at the University of Saskatchewan. My main area of interests is in innovation and researching and I plan to utilize my skill set from my undergraduate degree and my own personal desire of curiosity to create and innovate new exciting pathways. I believe education is not linear, and it will take many on new and exciting paths that may have not been thought of before. I want to inspire others and help others see that no matter what the situation may be, you can find ways to recreate your future.

My children and I thank you dearly this reward and the new opportunities that this reward can create for our future.

Sheila Naytowhow
